

Rights Round Table Newsletter 3

Last week, we talked about the Accessible Information Standard. We all have the right to have accessible information from health and social care services.

This week, we talked about how we could try make sure people get this information in an accessible way.

We thought about writing an easy read letter to the services we use.

We have a template letter that people can use to ask for accessible information. We will share this online.

Anyone can change the words in the letter so it fits their needs.

Let us know if you would like any help to edit the letter.

We hope it helps people speak up, and get the information they need.

Our group members said...

I have asked for accessible information from health services in the past, but haven't got it.

I raised an issue about not being able to get a flu jab in the group two weeks ago. This was shared with NHS England who have taken some action.

I'd like to try using the template to ask for accessible information.

Our next Zoom meeting is on Monday 30th November, 2.30pm - 3.30pm.

Learning Disability England will be joining us to talk about their campaign for accessible Covid-19 information.
